To Whom it May Concern,

The Global Learning Charter Public School (GLCPS) is excited to partner with the Stone Soup Leadership Institute Sustainable Workforce Development Network. The network, through the leadership of Marianne Larned, has committed to inviting GLCPS interested high school students to attend its Youth Leadership Summit. Likewise, GLCPS high school students have completed the Stone Soup Blue Green Labor Market Survey, sharing valuable insight into students' knowledge and interest in these fields.

We believe the summit's sustainability days, team-building activities and overall curriculum will be engaging and advantageous as students learn more about available career pathways.

We look forward to learning more about both the Network and the Youth Leadership Summit, and how our students could benefit from this potential partnership.

Sincerely,
