

How Might We Build a Sustainable World?

The Blue Economy is the economic engine for the future.
Ocean-related industries are estimated to be $2.5 trillion annually.
It's expected to grow significantly, projections to $3 trillion by 2030.

There are 10 million new jobs in the sustainable economy.

Discover how the Institute developed tools with communities that build bridges with local companies, government and academic institutions to help them navigate this whole new world and to prepare our young people for these new jobs.

Invest in Blue Economy Workforce Development Empower the Blue Economy Generation.

Just Imagine...

Your youth could become champions of the Blue Economy Generation by exploring sustainable career pathways to get good paying jobs that protect, preserve and rebuild your communities and our planet.

